

Lawyers in Richmond

Lawyers in Richmond - Tax law is involved in an astoundingly huge amount of everyday activities. Almost each and every deal which involves cash or anything of value involves tax issues in one way or another. Usually, the way that tax laws are implicated in a partnership or merger create just cause for a deal-breaker. making use of their knowledge and creativity, our lawyers could often turn what was a deal breaker into a deal maker. We ensure that up-to-date tax advice is given in both commercial and corporate transactions by communicating together with our colleagues in other practices of law. We have a broad range of clients, from high net worth people to all levels of international corporations and governments.

Our tax litigators could provide cost-effective and efficient handling of various tax disputes. The lawyers we choose to join our firm, we make certain they are well rounded in both litigation and tax. Our chartered accountants and lawyers have worked for the federal Department of Justice in addition to the provincial tax departments. We prefer to achieve ideal resolutions fast, but when considered necessary our lawyers are fully capable of representing our clients in court.
