

Real Estate Law Richmond

Real Estate Law Richmond - Prior to embarking on a real estate project, it is vital that you think about all factors because there are several areas of law and provincial jurisdictions which should be covered so as to attain your final goals. Knowledgeable legal counsel, with strong connections in the business, is important to creating a finished product with the least amount of complications.

In order to make sure that all of our clients needs are met, our company has specialized sub-groups in condominium development and sales, property development, leasing and financing, along with dispositions and acquisitions. Our aim is to give recommendation that would enable our clients visions to prosper. Among the services we provide are help in obtaining an extensive real estate portfolio, solving environmental problems, and creating assembly deals for a large pension fund.

We have several different public and private sector clients, representing all areas of real estate, from entrepreneurs, tenants and owners to sellers, investors, developers and purchasers. Our company would be delighted to represent you in any field of real estate law.