

Wills and Estates Lawyers Richmond

Wills and Estates Lawyers Richmond - Effective state planning can help to reduce tax exposure and can help prevent whatever family argument. Should incapacitation take place, this would also enable the decision making process down to a specifically chosen individual.

Our company gives services and advice to business owners in addition to private individuals. Our clients range in age and in net-worth, ranging from persons who are recently married to clients with bigger families. What's more, clients wishing to ensure that their estate is distributed according to their wishes and evenly can come to us for suggestion about the construction of their wills. Clients who need advice regarding succession and control issues come to us so as to solve their problems.

Our has a great deal of knowledge acting on behalf of trustees, executors, and substitute decision makers with their administrative matters. We advise our clients whilst maintaining a certain degree of sensitivity, and we make sure to keep up to date with all of the latest developments in law.

In addition to providing legal advice about estate administration, wills and trusts, we also advise on planning for mental incapacity. This includes the powers of attorney and personal directives. Trusts, like settlement, are dealt with by our lawyers. A complete array of tax recommendation is available for both cross-border and domestic conditions.