

Richmond Family Lawyers

Richmond Family Lawyers - To be able to assist our clients throughout their experiences during a breakdown in their common-law relationship or marriage issues, our family law practitioners offer services related to business, valuation, prenuptial agreement, divorce, and other legal matters. Moreover, when marital relationships fail, clients need assistance and sound suggestion on the various problems covering all their business and personal assets.

To lessen the resulting disruptions and to reduce costs for our clients, we work to solve the various problems using a combination of resourcefulness and common sense. Direct negotiation or alternate dispute resolutions are frequently adequate to resolve family problems. Nevertheless, when appropriate, family law issues could proceed to court.

Divorce Settlements

We have family law experts assisting clients in obtaining divorce settlements. The spousal support and property division issues which accompany divorce are dealt with by our skilled family law practitioners. The law governing spousal support is always evolving and complicated. Clients depend on knowledgeable legal assistance in this area to be able to protect their interests. Increasingly, cohabitation and separation agreements are subject to review and variation in the courts.

Business Valuations

Key assets subject to division in a divorce proceeding normally consist of business holdings. To be able to provide the foundation for an appropriate disposition, the business requires an accurate valuation for the purpose of dividing assets. Our family law firm works with the appropriate professionals in order to guarantee the proper valuation of clients' business holdings.

Prenuptial Agreements

A lot of clients wish to opt for a prenuptial agreement in order to maintain their premarital assets just in case their marriage happens to fail. Our family law practitioners offer advice on and structure prenuptial agreements.

Estate Litigation

A very important part of our family law practice is in the defense of challenges to family trusts. Divorce proceedings could put family trust assets at risk. Estate litigators act to preserve and protect family trust assets whenever a marriage dissolves.

Mobility Rights

The rights of parents to mobility and access can be compromised following the dissolution of a marriage. Problems normally relate to the parent's ability to relocate to a different country, city or province together with a child of the marriage. Family law works to make certain that the client's rights are considered and protected.
